. . . AND AROUND WE GO

Or, LaPlaca Litigious. The tenth round between Charles ("The Barber") LaPlaca, the many-lawyered one, and the Princeton Borough Housing Authority ended in a clean-shave decision for the PBHA from Mayor and Borough Council Tuesday night. The PBHA won by a TKO, but that is not necessarily the end of the strop for Mr. LaPlaca, says his legal handlers.

While Tuesday's decision went against Mr. LaPlaca and his entourage, there's still the Mercer County Superior Court to which they can apply for a reversal, reversal that is, of Mayor and Council's endorsement of the Planning Board's recommendation of plans and variances which would enable the PHBA to buy his North Harrison Street property for a low-cost, 50-unit project for Princeton's needy and elderly.

If the handsomely-tweeded Mr. LaPlaca still chooses to be litigious (or a law-suitor, as someone remarked Tuesday night after eyeing what he called his "non-Barney stitching"), the fight could go on until either Mr. LaPlaca or the PBSA drops. "It seems unlikely," said one observer, "that 'the Barber' would fold unless he wanted to. He's not one to work up a lather over something like this."

Mr. LaPlaca, usually a smoky-eyed, silent man, was represented in Tuesday's performance by Lawyer Joseph L. Stonaker, a partner of Barrister, Baggitt, William C., who asked for a delay. Reason: Mr. Baggitt was reported to be in the vicinity of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The Old Refrain. Anyway, despite Mr. Stonaker's replay of Mr. Baggitt's script and additional comments offered on his behalf, Mayor and Council, after two and a half hours of patient listening, took three important steps towards the realization of the project for the elderly.

The three:

- It dismissed an appeal by Mr. LaPlaca that the North Harrison property PBHA plan constituted a major subdivision. It did this because the lot will not be divided or subdivided. Vote: four in favor, two abstentions, zero negatives.

WHAT'S YOUR ZIP CODE, VALENTINE? Rachel Ahelson, 4, and Mark Sonnenfeld, 5, want to be sure that all-important message gets there on time. The mailbox may be unorthodox, but the sentiments are real. Rachel and Mark and the mailbox all belong to the Princetnn Cooperative Nursery School. (Staff Photo)

- It voted, by the same margin, to approve the Zoning Board recommendations for variances for the property.
- It passed on first reading a revision of the Borough map to accommodate an extension and turn-around of Spruce Street. Final consideration to this proposed ordinance will be given at Council's March 10 meeting.

And In Addition. In the four-hour meeting of Mayor and Council on Tuesday there was much more than l'affaire LaPlaca. For one thing Attorney A. C. Reeves Hicks asked for approval of conversion of the 37 Bank Street property to a two-apartment dwelling unit. Request was unanimously approved.

There also was a petition from 16 signatories in the third voting district to have the area split in two for balloting purposes. The county board of elections had previously come up with the same idea, and the suggestion was unanimously approved—with Nassau Street to be the dividing line between the new third district (west of Nassau) and the new ninth (east of Nassau). See story, page 2.

But the second most important item to come before Council on Tuesday (or maybe it was the most important, depending on how old you are) was the introduction of an ordinance by Councilman Ellwood W. Godfrey "to vacate one block Franklin Avenue" so that the Borough Board of Education can proceed with its plans to build a new elementary school on land at present owned by the Westminster Choir College.

This is a real estate version of the Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance play. Choir School gets the Franklin Avenue strip to plough under. Township puts through Guyot Avenue to Harrison. Borough School builds new school. Ordinance was approved, with the proviso that an alternate route (Guyot Avenue) be okayed first. March 10 was set as the date for further consideration by Mayor and Council.

Agenda. Other items:

- Fire department reports an unparalled request for free "pre fire insurance" inspection by firemen of Princeton homes—some 70 as a result of TOWN TOPICS article about "Let's NOT Keep The Home Fires Burning."
- New parking plans for many Princeton streets which will be announced in the next issue of TOWN TOPICS. An informal meeting to discuss these proposals will be held in

Confirmation of Patrolman Arthur Gallant as new sergeant in the Princeton Police Department.

Mayor and Council also killed, on second reading and after public hearing, the possibilities of a car laundry (as a separate enterprise, within the city walls of Princeton.

It postponed any decision on the request of one Joseph Mangone to use Borough property as an entrance to his house on Spruce Street until further information is available.

It also forwarded a letter, without comment, to the University about the traffic situation at and about McCarter Theatre which, it feels, is becoming more than a little bit snarly—particularly in the afternoons.

DISTRICT 3 SPLIT

To Form Two. The Borough's election District Three, long regarded by footsore committeemen as too big, much too big, has been divided in two.

The division is a simple one: everything south of Nassau Street now in District Three, will be in a new District Nine. The district has extended from the east side of Linden Lane all the way to the Borough-Township boundary at Snowden Lane, jogging south to include the east side of Princeton Avenue to Patton, along Patton to Harrison, and then south to the Township line.

The district lies in the Borough area that has seen the fastest growth in the last decade. About 1,000 voters are registered there, and almost 700 voted in the district last November.

It has sometimes been called "slightly Democratic," although Republican Councilman Alan Carrick lives there, and Republicans carried it in 1961, 1962 and 1963.

MUSEUM HAS PLANS

For Busy Little Minds. Five programs of interest to young scientists (and their elders) have been planned by the Princeton Junior Museum for the month of February. Included among them is the Winter Vacation Lecture, second in a series which began in December with the Christmas Lecture.

Here's the program:

Saturday, February 15, 10 a.m. A 400-th birthday party for Galileo will be celebrated this Saturday when Karl Koehler of the Amateur Astronomers' Association demonstrates the optics of the Galilean telescope. A few places remain in this limited group.

On a week-day evening next week (to be announced on Saturday), the Astronomy Group of the Junior Museum will hold a star-gazing session.

Saturday, February 15, 2 p.m. "What Are the Odds?" is the subject of the first program in a series of three Saturday afternoon sessions on the strategy of games. Three Princeton mathematicians will direct the proceedings, led by Lee Neuwirth of the Institute for Defense Analyses.

Visitors will observe, record and calculate the outcomes for such games as dice and, roulette and will learn not to draw to an inside straight. Automatic counting devices and desk calculating machines will be available.

Wednesday, February 19, 2 p.m. New techniques of chromatography in separating and analysing mixtures will be demonstrated in an actual laboratory when Dr. Ludwig Rebenfeld delivers the Museum's Winter Vacation Lecture, "Chromatography In Modern Chemistry."

The lecture, free and open to all children, will be held in the auditorium of Frick Chemical Laboratory on Washington Road. A program on chess is scheduled for February 22 and one on the Chinese game of "Go" the following Saturday.

BOROUGH TAXES UP 30

Budget 4.1% Higher. A 30-point jump will take the 1964 Borough tax rate from the current $7.24 to $7.54.

The 1964 budget, introduced Monday night in a special session of Borough Council, will be open to public analysis at the hearing scheduled for 8 p.m., March 10 in Borough Hall.

The estimated budget total is $1,184,482, up $32,252 over last year, or 4.1%. Of this amount, $474,137 must be raised by taxes. The other $710,345 will come from revenues.

This is the way the $7.54 breaks down: $3.54 for the school tax (up 12 points from last year, and the greatest increase in the 1964 estimates), $2.05 to the county (down one point from last year); $1.85 local purposes (up 11 points from last year) and a ten-cent increase in exemptions.

Actually, as Borough Administrator Robert Mooney explained, the 10-point veterans and old-age exemptions increase is not a true picture, because about six of these points were included in last year's local rate. Public referendums in 1963 allowing increased exemptions for these two groups of citizens, account for an additional four points.

Borough rateables for the coming year have increased by one percent to $24,478,617, or $367,000 more than last year. This is more of an increase than the Borough had between 1962 and 63 when rateables went up by only $273,909.

The Borough's increased expenditures for 1964 are largely traceable to debt service and increased pension costs for municipal employees. The operations budget remains fairly constant, in spite of a three percent increase in salaries for municipal employees.

The reason this part of the budget has not changed much is that sewer and sanitation costs have gone down. This also means that receipts from the University and the Township for sewer plant and incinerator use will be lower.

Comparative Taxes

When budget time comes around, the Borough looks enviously at the Township and sees an increase of $6 million in rateables, compared to its own $367,000.

The Township, on its part, looks enviously at the slim tax envelope mailed out by the Borough and compares it with the hefty notice that goes out from Township Hall.

For a property owner with a $30,000 house, here's the way it goes: if the house is in the Borough, the owner will pay, in 1964, $754 in taxes; if the house is in the Township, he will pay $912.

Actually, these figures are approximate, because of technicalities involved in the assessment policies of the two municipalities. The discrepancy in footing the tax bill for a $30,000 house does, however, exist much as illustrated.

UNITED FUND HITS TOP

For Fourth Straight Year. The 1963 campaign of the Princeton Area United Fund-Red Cross has reached its goal of $354,633, according to Campaign Chairman Warren W. Wagner. This marks the fourth campaign in succession that the goal has been attained. has been attained.

Round-Up

ROUND-UP

Total snowfall on Monday and Tuesday measured six inches in Princeton . . . Borough and Township schools opened for classes both mornings but decided to call it a day at noon on Tuesday. Kids sent home early seemed singularly unconcerned about the abrupt interruption in their intellectual training.

The Herald-Trib on Tuesday called it "fluffy kid stuff," but the snow was also greasy — a lot of skidding and a bunch of minor accidents (especially on the Turnpike where, one patrolman said, people tend to ignore wind, weather and warning signs and "just drive 60 anyway."

The German measles situation in and around Princeton is said to be very spotty (the first three people who heard it thus described didn't think it was a pun, so now we don't either) . . . Anyway, many cases have been reported from Pennington, Jamesburg and other nearby communities.

In Princeton Borough, munps have led German measles, 55-6, since the start of the year in the elementary schools. Only four cases of German measles have been recorded at Valley Road and Johnson Park Schools in the Township . . . Miss Fine's School, on the other hand, reports 12 measles cases within the past two weeks . . . But, in general, Princeton is comparatively free of roseolate citizenry.

Our man who covers the Borough police beat has this to report. On February 4, acting on a call from a Princeton resident (the police appreciate this help and encourage citizens to call them) police officers apprehended two men who were soliciting magazine subscriptions in the Prospect Apartments without a permit . . . Both from out-of-town . . .

They were charged with soliciting without permit and released after posting $25 bail each . . . They were scheduled to come before court Monday night, but they didn't show . . . Police Chief McCrohan says they never will.

Modus operandi is to come to town, hit an area, then take off . . . They ring bells and, if no one answers, may then enter and loot . . . Or hit it later . . . Even if you take a subscription, magazines are seldom delivered.

More on magazine solicitation: Police point out that there are a number of reliable persons selling magazines (e.g. the PTA for its scholarship fund), and it's bad that grafters and drifters can operate the way they do.

Police urge citizens who suspect that a salesman of any kind is shady or questionable to ask for identification, call headquarters, or, better yet, both.

The "Y" is looking for a piece of nearby landscape complete with running water for its summer camp activities . . . Anybody who has any acreage to lend for such a worthy purpose should call Mrs. Waxwood at the "Y" (924-4825) . . . It would make the "Y" — and a lot of Princeton kids — very happy.

If you see a strange-looking aircraft moving over Princeton in the next few weeks, don't blame it on your optometrist or your favorite brand . . . It's for real, the Aereon III, an experimental dirigible which combines some of the principles of lighter-than-air, airplane and helicopter design in its well-rounded, triple-hulled form.

Designed and built in Trenton at a cost of about $250,000, Aereon III is the first rigid diribible built in this country in nearly 30 years . . . A Trenton clergyman, the Rev. Monroe Drew Jr., is president of Aereon, Inc., which would seem to give Aereon III some kind of divine headstart to airworthiness.

BE PREPARED. Princeton Boy Scout Troop 77 will be hitting the trail this Saturday on its second annual door-to-door sale of light bulbs . . . The scouts will use the proceeds to buy camping supplies for the troop . . . To enlighten you further, they will offer bulbs ranging in wattage from 25 to 100 (three-way bulbs, too).

If a scout does not come to your door and you'd like to help the troop, scout officials ask that you phone your order to Daniel A. Mazzarella between this Saturday and next — 924-4497 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., 924-2097 after 6 p.m.

Lost Letter

The Valentine
I sent you, sweet,
Got buried in a
Snowy street.

After almost a month of relatively mild winter weather, snow came to Princeton on successive days this week and the countryside was covered with close to six inches.

That'll be all for a while, the Man said — thinking at least in terms of the upcoming weekend. Temperatures averaging about normal — which is 34 in mid-February — and generally clear skies through Sunday.

News Of The THEATRES

LITHGOW ON REPERTORY

"It's a Challenge." A thoughtful theater-goer may wonder occasionally about a repertory company — how the actors can remember so many lines from such a variety of plays and so on. But rarely does he consider the infinite complex of technical, economic, artistic and philosophic components that are "repertory."

Arthur Lithgow, executive director of McCarter Theatre, talked about some of these factors in an interview this week, pausing between rehearsals for "Romeo and Juliet," which he is directing, and the general supervision of McCarter's resident repertory company.

"There are real artistic differences between repertory and production or unit stock work," Mr. Lithgow began. "Plays are sharpened as they appear in relation to one another: tragedy and comedy are both heightened by juxtaposition, and the total impact of the literature is greater and sharper."

Mr. Lithgow went on to suggest that repertory, by bringing a play to life, killing it, then bringing another to life the next night, may even point up the relationship between mortality and life itself.

The Honed Skill. "And, of course, the actor is a better actor after a season of repertory," Mr. Lithgow continued. "He acquires facility and sharpens the instruments of his profession as he moves from role to role and back again. This kind of thing is hard to prove, naturally but actors believe it, and they enjoy the feeling of growth in their profession that repertory gives them."

The problems faced by an actor in a repertory company like McCarter's are now under study by Actors Equity. The union is concerned because actors must work longer, harder and with a greater concentration of effort in repertory than they do, say, in stock.

For example, in repertory, an actor will inevitably have to rehearse two or three plays simultaneously. Because of this schedule he has to split his focus and cannot concentrate intensively on one role.

MAD YOUNG SCIENTIST AND FRIEND: Tommy Kirk visits the school lab to talk with Stanley the Chimp in "The Misadventures of Merlin Jones," starting Saturday at the Garden.

"In repertory," Mr. Lithgow explained, "we use the rehearsal unit called the 'French scene,' which means a segment — brief or very long — using the same actors. The term comes from Moliere, who started a new scene whenever a new actor came on stage."

These scenes are rehearsed in the most concentrated manner possible, and then related to other segments, Mr. Lithgow said.

The stage manager is another who feels the burdens and excitements of repertory. In the forthcoming McCarter season, he will have five demanding Shakespeare plays to mount.

On Pay Day. Because Equity is still working on a new codification of rules to fit all the new repertory companies springing here and there around the country, McCarter has been allowed a wage scale which splits the difference between the customary Equity minimum, and the probable new repertory minimum. The minimum weekly acting wage at McCarter this season is $110, Mr. Lithgow said.

An actor is on call for a maximum of 54 hours a week. He gives four-hour performances eight times in six days, and in between, he rehearses. During those 54 hours, he may be away from the theatre; perhaps he may even study one of his various parts.

"Actors in Princeton play to a very special kind of audience," Mr. Lithgow said. "It is an experienced audience, intimately acquainted with off-and-on Broadway and receptive to the nuances of repertory. It is also an audience which refuses to accept anything but high standards."

"We must compete with New York proficiency yet maintain a purpose and point of view of our own," the director continued. "We have, of course, the great economic advantage of having a parent institution —the University—which supports us whole-heartedly whether we have a box-office success or not."

McCarter's point of view is basically traditional; that is, its producers give plays that belong to the literature of the theatre, and this is almost impossible to do unless a theatre is subsidized.

"But more and more, New Jersey residents find it convenient to come to a New Jersey theatre instead of beating their way into New York," Mr. Lithgow observed, "and more and more undergraduates are subscribing. All these things tend to cancel out the increased costs of operating a repertory company, and work in favor of repertory in Princeton."

BUSTLE IN THE WINGS

Getting Ready For Will. More than 100 different costumes are being "built" in the McCarter workshops as the theatre prepares for its five-play Shakespeare cycle, opening, of course, with "Othello" on February 22.

Normally, a repertory theatre would rent or borrow its costumes but McCarter wants to make sure of unity and harmony in design and color.

Meanwhile upstairs, director William Francisco proceeds with the casting and direction of "Othello." Ruby Holbrook has been signed to play Emilia; Michael Miller, Roderigo and David Tress, Cassino.

Robert Blackburn will be the Othello, as announced last week with Angela d'Ambrosia as Desdemona and Stratton Walling as Iago.

Monte Frierson, General Manager for McCarter, has tallied subscription orders in the McCarter box-office, and has found that renewals are 50 percent higher than in any previous season.

"We are also amazed," Mr. Frierson said, "at the number of brand new subscribers who seem to have been just waiting for a good dose of Shakespeare."

Lithgow Is Named

Arthur W. Lithgow, McCarter Theatre's executive director, has been appointed to the National Committee of the 400th Shakespeare Anniversary Committee.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy is Honorary Chairman of the Committee which was established by President Kennedy to arrange events in commemoration of Shakespeare's birth. Other members of the executive committee are Eugene R. Black, Katharine Cornell and Arthur Schlesinger Jr.

Mr. Lithgow founded the Antioch Shakespeare Festival in Antioch, Ohio, and directed many of its productions. He is widely recognized as an authority on Shakespeare. At present, he is directing "Romeo and Juliet" for McCarter.

News Of The Theatres

A Sunday matinee series, revived after an experimental try in 1961, has also proved very popular, Mr. Frierson said.

CHOREOGRAPHER STARS

In Ballet Programs. Lew Christensen, general director of the San Francisco Ballet since 1948, has choreographed all six works which the dancers of the ballet will offer in Princeton on February 24.

The San Francisco Ballet will be on the McCarter stage for two performances: one, at 3:30, has been especially designed for younger audiences; the other, at 8:30 will satisfy more sophisticated tastes.

For the evening performances, the company's dancers will present Mr. Christensen's "Sinfonia," "Divertissement d'Auber" and a brand new work called "Fantasma," set to music by Prokofiev.

The matinee program will consist of "Variations de Ballet," "Caprice" and "Jest of Cards," in which 12-foot-high stage figures represent various suits of playing cards.

THE SCENE: PRINCETON

For McCarter Films. Princeton film-makers will star in McCarter's first program on "Experimental and Independent Cinema," to be shown this Saturday at 8 in the theatre.

James E. Davis, one of the country's leading film artists and a Princeton resident for many years, will be represented by "Analogies No. 1" and "Processes."

A dozen or more color stills of the abstract effects in these two films are now on display in the camera department of the Princeton University Store.

The stills, 8 x 10 and 11 x 14, will be on view at the University Store through February.

Two University students filmed "Princeton Contexts," which will be shown Saturday in public premiere. The film was made on campus in 1962 by John McKee, then a graduate student, and James Bierman, '64, as a possible replacement for the University's own documentary, "Princeton" which was made more than 15 years ago.

Mr. Davis's work, included in the permanent film collection of the Museum of Modern Art, is the imagery of light, related to natural objects and to inanimate made-made objects.

PRINCE AND PLAYHOUSE

The Prize (through Tuesday) is the Nobel, about to be presented to that famous psysicist, Edward G. Robinson, and that famous man of letters, Paul Newman. Prize Day in Stockholm, however, is anything but routine — kidnapping and killing make an unusual and stressful prologue.

Physicist Robinson is the one who gets snatched. Author Newman, lately become more of a lush than a litterateur, sobers up enough to go find him. The action is fast and so is much of the dialogue.

In addition to the fights and chases, the film presents the beautiful Elke Sommer in her first American movie. She is probably the finest German invention since VW — and much better looking.

GARDEN

Bill Liar (through Friday) is the nickname for Billy Fisher, a British Walter Mitty, incorrigible liar and irresponsible clerk in the house of Shadrack and Duxbury, undertakers. The serio-comic fantasy of Billy's life makes for an imaginative, fresh view of grimy, working-class existence on the industrial slag-heaps of England.

Billy is a day-dreamer and a scoundrel. He makes himself personal loans from his employers' petty cash, he endlessly battles his parents, and gets engaged to two girls at the same time (but really loves a third).

As Billy, Tom Courtenay ("The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner") brings off sequences of top-notch comedy. And Julia Christei, as his inamorata Liz, is so full of easy, glowing charm that she turns her few chief appearances into quick triumph.

"Liar" is a worthy addition to the recent collection of British realism-on-film.

Tthe MisAdventures of Merlin Jones (starts Saturday), is a new Disney comedy, starring Tommy Kirk as a madcap science student. It's a panic. So says our nine-year-old son, who found our negative reaction to "Son of Flubber" incomprehensible.

"ANTIQUES" WANTED

For Props by "Commuters." The Commuters, Kendall Park's theatrical group, is looking for props of 1930 vintage for its production on February 22 and 29. Sandy Roston, in charge of properties, lists among the needs a "standing" telephone, cotton nurses' uniforms and a porch swing suspended by chains.

These items will, hopefully, be used in Edward Albee's "The American Dream" and "The Death of Bessie Smith." The Commuters will stage the plays at South Brunswick High School.

EXECUTIVE SUITE

At Nassau Interiors. Men who make big decisions need big desks. They do not, however, needs big bank-accounts.

Nassau Interiors has adopted these two lines of thought as the store's philosophy for 1964 et seq, and has added to its collection a line of Office furniture.

Just to give a starting point — we found one desk 75 inches long by 39 inches deep, with overhang at each side, and enough overhang opposite the executive to provide a comfortable writing surface for a salesman or a staff member sketching out a new idea.

This desk is solid walnut, with suspension file drawer, partitions in the standard drawers and a lock on the fitted center drawer. Price tag is $328.

The Great Man's secretary sits at a 30 by 60 inch desk with walnut Formica top, and an 18 by 40 inch table attached to the desk at her right hand, making a convenient L-shaped (rather, "7"-shaped) work surface. These two pieces are $269.95.

A smaller version of that big executive desk is 53 by 30, with overhang at the back, and straight sides. Both versions have brushed brass pulls, and the standard pull-out shelf above each top drawer, left and right.

So far, the entire office management has been swathed in solid walnut: trim, sleek and modern. However, traditionalists have not been forgotten. One mahogany desk, 34 by 60, has antique bronze hardware and, instead of an overhang on the side opposite the chair, has a wide pull-out writing shelf, which is rather, the executive's wife will say, like a bread board.

We think the best real bargain in the collection is an oiled walnut desk, 22 by 56, with three standard drawers one file drawer and one front drawer, for only $89.95. This one has wooden pulls, and could be used in a living-room or home study.

Of course, there are desk chairs and office posture chairs, too and a catalogue with inviting photographs of conference tables TIIIS long, credenzas, file cupboards, desk-cupboard complexes, and sorts of specialized office needs. These are to order.

You'll find furniture one might classify as "waiting room" furniture, like the simple, square oiled walnut table with black slate top, and matching sleigh-style armchair with black nauza hyde upholstery.

"Doctor will see you now."

TAKE ONE ELEPHANT . . .

And Make A Shop. Queenstown Craft, the shop on Route 518 between Lawrenceville and Pennington, has added a White Elephant room, and please, no elephant jokes.

It's a fascinating place, the kind of "altic" that every woman loves to putter around in because who knows what treasures one might find! "It was in this little shop, you see, hidden in the back of a shelf, and it's exactly the one I've been looking for all these years!"

What did we find? Well, a treadle sewing machine for one thing, priced at $10. Paint it white and . . . well, you go on from there. A slim little bamboo chair has a rush seat in excellent condition, but some paint needed here and there on the wood.

Here's a grape press, and a leather ammunition bucket to make into a lamp (or to put ammunition in). Wait'll some husband sees the two headlight's from an antique Ford or the nine molding planes from a carpenter's workshop of the 1850's.

One of the most impressive white elephants in a three-panel screen, carved of walnut in the Spanish style, with tangerine and gold fabric between the frames. You could remove the tabric, of course, but actually, it's perfectly good as is. Screen stands five and one-half feet, and is priced at $50.

And look at this table of china and glassware! Twelve 10-inch water glasses, cool and tall as a long drink; three ice-cream soda glasses with brass racks; Meissen demi-tasse and saucer in white with a border of green ivy; capacious old soup plates in light brown and white garland design ($3.50); a Havilland sugar and creamer; a Copen blue teapot with two spouts ($1) in perfect condition to receive hot water on one side, tea on the other.

And, perhaps most fun of all, a huge table loaded with a tremendous toss of old prints, dumped every which way, just waiting for someone to spend

On Your Feet, Gal!

A charming ladies' rocker is one of the consigned pieces in the White Elephant Room at Queenstown Craft, and we had a pleasant minute contemplating its graceful lines.

Like all ladies' rockers of past generations, it is armless with a curving back. We suggested to the lady of the shop that the chairs were doubtless made without arms to accommodate wide skirts, and with curving backs to suggest the grace of the lady seated in the chair.

Romantic nonsense! These rockers were made without arms and with curving backs so that they would be as uncomfortable as possible. Anyone sitting in this chair is supposed to perch briefly, catch her breath, and get back to that sad-iron before it cools. On your feet!

MUSIC In Princeton

SESSIONS IN PREMIERE

With Philadelphians. Roger Sessions' newly-completed Fifth Symphony will be heard for the first time when Eugene Ormandy conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra in the work next Monday in McCarter Theatre. The concert will be the fourth in the current Series I sponsored by Princeton University Concerts.

Mr. Sessions' compositions have been played by the Philadelphians often in their various concert appearances in Princeton, but this it the first time the orchestra has offereil the premiere of one of Sessions' major works.

The composer was the first teacher of composition in the Princeton Universilty Music Department, which he joined in 1935. In spite of ten years' absence in California on a teaching assignment, Mr. Sessions has always been thoroughly identified with Princeton.

In addition to Mr. Sessions' Symphony Number Five, the Philadelphia Orchestra will play the Concerto for String Quartet and Orchestra, Opus 131 by Spohr and the Brahms Symphony Number One.

Fifty standing-room tickets will he sold at the McCarter box-office starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

READY, AMATEURS?

For Byrd, Lassus. Amateur singers in the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will join for an a cappella program this Sunday at 5 p.m. in the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies on the University campus.

Byrd's Mass for Four Voices and Lassus' Motets will constitute the program. The works will be sung without accompaniment, but Cynthia Hoebel will provide piano assistance where needed.

All who wish to attend are invited; however, reservations should be maile with Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, WA 4-0453, between 2 and 5 p.m.

HERE MONDAY: Eugene Ormandy will conduct the Philadelphia Orchestra in McCarter next week.

COMPOSER TO BE HEARD

Over WNYC. Music by David Krachenbuehl, composer-in-residence at the New School for Music Study, will be played over station WNYC Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. as part of the station's American Music Festival.

"Celebrations," a one-movement piano concerto, will be played by Elvina Truman Pearce, of the school faculty, with Mr. Kraehenbuehl playing the orchestral part on a second piano. "A Concert of the Humours," a work in four movements for four pianists at two pianos, will be played by Mrs. Pearce, Mr. Kraehenbuehl, Doris Martin and Richard Chronister, all of the New School.

TO DIRECT MUSIC

At Churchmen's Rally. James C. McKeever is music director of the annual eastern area meeting of the United Presbyterian Men in New York this weekend.

IT'S RAMBLIN' JACK

Just a Roamer. Legendary—whatever that may mean—among contemporary folk music performers, Rambling Jack Elliott will ramble into Dillon Gym on Saturday afternoon, March 7, to participate in a Spring Folk Festival.

The event, hopefully an annual one, will start at 2:30. The banner is that of McCarter Theatre and the Class of 1965 Junior Prom Committee.

Besides Ramblin' Jack, the program will include the Tarriers, Jean Redpath and the 75 members of the Back Home Gospel Choir from the Greater Harvest Baptist Church of Newark.

Elliott is regarded as the foremost interpreter and disciple of the great Woody Guthrie, and with Guthrie, used to roam and ramble across the country, singing for his supper.

The singer still regards himself as a "roamer," and has taken his guitar aboard freight trains, sailing ships and motorbikes. He has also competed in rodeos and lived in a tent in Norway. At different times.

Tickets for the Folk Festival are now on sale in the McCarter box-office.

BLACK OR AU LAIT?

Atkinson and "Coffee." Indefatigable Bill Atkinson is still turning them out. Clothes collections, we mean.

We found the latest, "Coffee House," at Hay and Clover, stirred adriotly with cream sugar, or left black and hot It's a collection built around silk, wood jersey and a mixture of arnel and whipped avron makes field pants, narrow skirts and jumper, and also a brief pullover which has long sleeves a round neck, and a band of stitching down the front.

Buttons, when they are used, are reasonable facsimilies of coffee beans, but don't put them in your grinder.

Mr. A. has thoughtfully added to this group a scarf made out of the coffee checks. It appears as a bandanna around the head, a band around a wide-brimmed straw hat, a belt, and the servant of your own imagination.

Now we turn from coffee shops to fields of flax. Ireland has sent to Hay and Clover a rack full of those indispensible linen dresses that are as necessary to the summer as sun itself.

Strelitz is the house. Here's maize yellow with scalloped edges; palest shell pink, in a sleeveless sheath with bright pink around the collar(blue with green); brilliant cherry (or kelly) in a skimmer with diagonal stitched band concealing two slant pockets; deepest royal purple with an easy little pointed turtle collar and oyster with wild zigzag bands of orange or terracotta. All about $25.

Earlier this spring, you'll wear Strelitz' irish wool suit, the teal green one with matching linen cuffs and turtle overblouse. A sunshine yellow wool has the same scallops we found in that yellow linen — around the little collar, the edge of the over-blouse and the sleeve ends.

Sober bankers grey makes a classic with four patch pockets on the jackets, turn-back white linen cuffs and narrow white lapers. Comes in oatmeal with black linen, too. Overblouses match the linen.

Dusty pink wool, like the frost of a soda, has three-inch slots in the front hemline and a row of offside buttons to close the jacket. Comes in Irish oatmeal, too.

was $41,836 higher than the previous one. The increase was caused by a number of factors, according to Mr. Wagner including more complete annexation of the Red Cross contributing area, addition of the Retarded Children's Association, nominal increases to member agencies, and campaign partnership with Montgomery Township.

In paying tribute to "the dedicated divisional leaders and to every one of the over 1,500 volunteers, who never gave up until their assigned tasks were completed," Mr. Wagner itemized the amount raised and the number of contributors for each division. They are:

Special Gifts (G. Vietor Davis and Hugh D. Wise, chairmen): $110,660 from 1,083 contributors.

Research and Industrial (Arthur N. Curtiss and Philip Marcus, chairmen): $121,900 from 5,403 contributors.

University (James G. Allen and Carl R. Pope, chairmen): $34,034 from 928 contributors.

Mercantile (Theodore S. Reed, chairman), $9,533 from 358 contributors.

Professions (Chester R. Stroup and John J. McKenna, chairmen): $43,391 from 2,601 contributors.

Building Trades (George R. Griffing, chairman): $4,890 from 110 contributors.

Shopping Center (Donald S. Nelson and R. L. Lenhart, chairmen): $2,589 from 155 contributors.

Neighborhoods (Norman O. Hood, Mrs. W. Kedsie Teller, Mrs. Albert W. Zeigler, Henry W. Jeffers and Bartlett Bailey, chairmen): $27,707 from 3,548 contributors.

SUCCESS STORY: Warren W. Wagner, chairman of the 1963 United Fund-Red Cross campaign, announces that the campaign has reached its goal for the fourth successive time.

LEGION POST TO MOVE?

May Have to, Leaders Say.

"In all the talk which has taken place in regard to the proposed purchase of Miss Fine's School and the Swann Estate (Borough Hall) and the subsequent trade between the Seminary and the Borough of of Princeton, there seems to be one forgotten party: Post 76 of The American Legion." That is the opinion of Post Commander Donald Briggs and Vice - Commanders Eugene Pierre and Joseph V. Gallagher.

As they point out, probably few people in Princeton realize that Post 76 has occupied for the past 35 years the little stone building on the Swann Estate which faces on Mercer Street. "But now," they say, "if the discussed plans materialize and the Seminary acquires the Swann property, it seems unlikely that the Legion will be able to continue to rent the building it has occupied for so long."

As an indication of their propriety as tenants, the Post 76 officers can point with pride to the fact that, although the organization has had a club liquor license since shortly after repeal in 1933, it has never had a complaint of any kind lodged against it — either by any neighbors or by the Alcoholic Control Board.

In mentioning some of the Post's many achievements, the officers state that "this is an organization which over the years has organized the annual Memorial Day parade and has often brought speakers of national prominance to Princeton for the occasion." It also has directed for many years past the Fourth of July fireworks program in Palmer Stadium, which frequently was done at a loss to the Post at the beginning.

Each year the Post sends three boys to the New Jersey Boys State Program for a week of training in citizenship for the future. It also joins the Legion's state organization in sponsoring the annual oratorical contest, safety essay contest and similar activities.

Post 76's officers "try to keep up with the latest legislation so that all veterans, their widows and orphans may receive the benefits to which they are entitled (whether they are Legionnaires or not)." In addition, the fund-raising for Operation Flag was done by Post 76 during the past year so that Nassau Street now has a large number of American flags flying on patriotic holidays.

Lately, the Post's officers report, a committee has been out looking for a property which could be used as new headquarters, but it has found nothing available. Their statement concludes:

"The Post would be very happy to purchase the building which has been its home for the past 35 years, but red tape seems to block any such course of action."

"This raises a question," the officers say. "Does an organization with such a record of service have to go out of town, or even into the next county?"

ACCIDENT REPORT

Two Within One Minute. Princeton Township police reported two accidents during Monday mornnig's snow which took place within one minute of each other. The first involved four cars.

At 8.11, a skidding car triggered a four-car collision on Harrison Street, about 100 feet north of the Carnegie

Lake Bridge No one was injured.

Police report that a car operated by Lowell H. Good, 52, of Somerville, started to slide as it entered a downgrade and struck the first of three cars coming in the opposite direction. The first car, driven by Richard J. Kieffer, 24, of Cranbury, was pushed into a car driven by Eleanor G. McNulty, 58, also of Cranbury, who, in turn, was pushed into a third car driven by Barbara J. Fenity, 20, of Plainsboro.

All of the cars, with the exception of Mrs. Fenity's, were towed away. Because of the snow, police said all were traveling slowly at the time. They made no charges.

A minute later, at 8:12, Ernest A. Tyrole Jr., 62, going north on the Great Road, skidded into the southbound lane and hit the left side of a car operated by Walter C. Case, 27, of Trenton. There were no injuries, but the two cars were considerably damaged.

In the Borough, Henry P. Tomlinson, 44, 171 Wescott Road, and Patricia P. Sweet, 33, Kendall Park, were issued summonses for "stop sign" violations.

Mr. Tomlinson, driving on Hamilton Avenue, was charged with hitting a car driven by Alice L. Lawson, 41, 114 Jefferson Road, who was driving on Moore Street. A passenger in her car, Joanne Karch, 34, 115 Jefferson Road, was taken to Princeton Hospital and treated for contusions and bruises of her nose. The mishap occurred Sunday afternoon.

Earlier in the week, Mrs. Sweet failed to stop at the foot of Elm Road and struck a car traveling on Stockton Street operated by H. L. Mayes, 49, of 35 Leigh Avenue. Police said Mrs. Sweet complained of a bump on her head but refused medical treatment. Both cars were damaged in excess of $100.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS QUIET

And Budgets Pass, Too.

Slippery fooling, few contests and generally satisfactory budgets combined to keep the voters home Tuesday in the annual school district elections.

All budgets passed, although in West Windsor the margin on current expenses was no more than 171 to 154. Both the incumbents won there, W. Bradford Craig polling 255 and Mrs. Eleanor B. Dearborn, 234. Of the other three candidates, William R. Linke was the victor with 171; Edward L. Poling (145) and Michael L. Manchica (127) were the losers.

Princeton Township, approving the budget by the sizeable margin of 185 to 67, returned four incumbents to office. Mrs. Dorothy Schoch (214) and A. Robert Trudel (217) will begin new three-year terms; L. F. Purvis (216) and Mrs. Phyllis Sinkler (204) will complete unexpired terms of board members they have replaced.

The Borough passed its budget, 146 to 9, gave 137 votes to Board President Graham Rohrer. Mrs. Bernice Miller received 147 and William K. Evans, 148. All are incumbents.

Lawrence Township, with about seven percent of the voters going to the polls, passed the budget, 354 to 87. Incumbents Donald L. Suppers and Samuel L. Hack drew respective totals of 376 and 356, with newcomer Robert A. Carlisle polling 331. Write-in candidate Matthew C. Walter received 54.

The contest in Montgomery Township was resolved in favor of John P. Van Zandt, Raymond L. Hunt and Harry Dowling. The losers were Stuart E. Hotchkiss, Richard Hantler and Dr. Franklin Martin, the latter an incumbent.

PLANNERS AT WORK

In Township. Appearing informally before the Township Planning Board Monday night, Carnegie Realty discussed with board members a proposed subdivision of 28 lots to be carved out of a triangle of land in the Jefferson-Mt. Lucas-Valley Road area.

A C Reeves Hicks, appearing for Carnegie, asked the board if it would agree to vacating part of a "paper" street which runs between Jefferson and Mt Lucas and divides the subdivision in two. Informal plans shown to the board on Monday night show a through street north of the "paper" street.

In addition, the Planning Board approved another subdivision of Shady Brook Estates this one for 29 lots. The usual paving, sidewalk and drainage requirements were laid down.

ART SHOW SCHEDULED

By Junior Chamber. The Fifth Annual Art Exhibit and Sale sponsored by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held this year in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's School on March 14 and 15. It will be open to entries by any artist, amateur and professional.

Show entries can include original drawings, paintings, prints or sculpture. All pictures should be wired and ready for hanging and labeling.

An entrance fee of $1 will be charged for each item to be displayed, and all works will be insured by the Junior Chamber of Commerce while in its possession. The Jaycees will retain a 25% commission for all sales made at the exhibit.

Exhibitors who submit their registration fee before March 2 will be listed in the program, the Jaycee committee states. The final part of the exhibit shows the Jewish uprising against the Nazis, how the Nazis subsequently destroyed the entire ghetto and systematically annihilated the inhabitants.

Cory S. Kommler

We read a revealing article on the use of high detergent motor oils. The experts say, "It is false economy to use cheap oil simply because an engine is old and worn. If cheap heavy oil is used because the engine uses less of it, the chances are that engine lubrication is poor and most likely little if any oil gets to important areas such as the rocker arms. Heavy oil may temporarily put off the day of a motor overhaul, but it also will greatly increase the size and expense of the job in pretty short order; High detergent oil is far less expensive in the long run." Well, the experts are saying no more than most of us should recognize: that regardless of what product or service we are considering we get only what we pay for. Cheapness is the most costly way out of any problem, purchase, or investment. True value and satisfaction is assured only when you are guided by truly reliable specialists. May we please serve you? BE MINE: These four Princeton High School juniors—Jessica DeGrazia (left), Mark Kasrel, Margo Tobolsky and John Alter—come up with a variety of answers in saying to whom they would most like to send a valentine, and why.

Question of the Week

Question: What famous person would you most like to send a valentine to and why?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Jessica DeGrazia, 39 Maple Street, junior, PHS: To my Dad, because I love him.

Mark Kasrel, 261 Prospect Avenue, junior, PHS: To Johnny Valentine, because it would be a personal one.

Margo Tobolsky, 191 Snowden Lane, junior, PHS: To Ghandi, because he was so gentle.

John Alter, 33 Alexander Street, junior, PHS: To Alexander Pope, because I want to be witty, too.

Mrs. Ann Pearce, Kendall Park, housewife: I think I would send it to Richard Nixon to let him know I would support him in the coming election. My heart still goes out to him. I was sorry to see him lose last time. I think he and his wife, Pat, did a marvelous job of campaigning.

Anthony Nini, 377 Walnut Lane, sergeant, Township police: To Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants—the greatest ballplayer that ever lived!

Mrs. Olga Christides, 224-B Harrison Street, employee of Travelex: To President Kennedy, if he were alive. I particularly admired him, not only because he was an able politician but because he was an intellectual and cultivated man. He gave to the States a spiritual air which is missing now in this country.

Raymond L. Nichols, N. Harrison Street, graduate student: Socrates. I can't think of any one more worthy of memory in an age in which people are concerned only with things of a practical value.

Miss Isabel Nicol, Carter Road, secretary for Management Planning: I think I'd send one to The Beetles. They are my fellow countrymen so I'm right with them. I'm not a rock 'n roll fan but at the same time they are good. You can't tell they're English. They've gotten the American language and diction down pat. They're amazing.

Mrs. Peter Eisenman, 13 S. Stanworth Drive, housewife: I think probably to Jacqueline Kennedy. I'd tell her that she has the love and sympathy of a great many people and that Valentine's Day symbolizes this love.

Joseph Riccio, 15 Humbert Street, post-graduate student, Rutgers University: I'd send one to Pandora. She's the one in mythology who opened the box of troubles and let them spread over the world. Maybe a valentine would soften her up.

Mrs. Dianne Holler, Lake Side Apartments, housewife: I'd send one to Eisenhower. My husband is in ROTC and I think Eisenhower has done so much for men in the military. I think he's just one of the greatest persons who ever lived. Since he's been out of service he has done not only a lot for the boys in service but for the whole country. I admire him; we need more men like him.

Coke Smith, 95 Dodds Lane, Hun School student: Jean Saubert. I think she's done a lot to help our relations with others. She's done a terrific job as far as representing our country in the Olympics. There is nothing forced about her.

Mrs. Henrietta Bleicher, Main Street, Lawrenceville, housewife: Mrs. Kennedy. I think she's certainly a model American woman and has done a great deal for our country.

Mrs. Rachel Thompson, 11 Vernon Circle, housewife: Elizabeth Taylor. She probably needs some more valentines this year; she doesn't have enough lovers of her own.

Cliff Whitlow, Lawrenceville, student, Princeton Theological Seminary: Mrs. Kennedy, for the love she lost. That comes to mind at a time like this.

Harold Jones, 16 Vandeventer, Graduate student, Spanish department: By that if you mean who in history I admire most, I would send one to Cervantes just because I think Dox Quixote is the greatest work in literature ever written. I'm not promoting Cervantes just because I am in the Spanish department; I'm in the Spanish department because I read Cervantes.

Annamarie Gelbum, Freehold, high school student: To Marcel Marceau—he's my cousin.

Robert Stephenson, Blair Hall, University junior: Mrs. Kennedy, because I think she's taken the assassination of her husband very well.

Bartlett Bailey, Burnt Hill Road, Montgomery Township, builder. To Isabelle Hunt-my wife.

THEY HAVE PLANS FOR FIRST NATIONAL BANK: Ralph H. Mather, center, president of the First National Bank of Princeton, studies reconstruction plans and blueprints in conference with the architect and the contractor handling the bank's modernization program now in progress. With Mr. Mather are, at left, Nelson Tower of the Tower Construction Co., and Paul W. Drake of Drake, Convery & Cueman, architects.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BUILDING PHASE BEGINS

At First National. Demolition of 8-10 Witherspoon Street, behind First National Bank, is slated to be completed next week. According to Ralph H. Mather, bank president, this marks the beginning of the action phase of the bank's modernization plans.

Next to fall under the hammers will be 4-6 Witherspoon, scheduled for February 24.

A two story, brick facade building will be constructed on the combined sites. It will house three levels of working and service space, as well as a new safe deposit and vault section.

Plans for the central office at 90 Nassau Street call for relocating the main entrance in the middle of the building. The modernization will leave unchanged the traditional atmosphere of the facade. Architects are Drake, Convery and Cueman of Summit; Tower Construction Company is the general contractor.

Mr. Mather noted that the bank will continue business as usual during the building program, with a minimum of inconvenience to bank customers and personnel.

LaPLACA BUYS PRINCE

To Build Shops. Another member of the LaPlaca family moved into the news this week with the announcement that Leonard LaPlaca, owner of Nassau Interiors, has purchased the Prince Chevrolet property at 362 Nassau Street.

Mr. LaPlaca is the brother of Charles LaPlaca on whose Harrison Street land the Princeton Housing Authority wants to erect its housing project for the elderly. A third brother, Anthony, has before Borough officials a proposal to build 252 apartment units on the property he owns across Harrison Street from Charles.

On the 16 acres at 362 Nassau, Mr. LaPlaca plans to lay out a compact shopping "court." He will move his furniture store from its present location at 162 Nassau into the building now used by Prince for automobile showroom and garage. This will give him more than twice the floor space he now has at 162 Nassau.

Facing the showroom across the driveway in from Nassau Street will be a two-story building with space for four shops. A similar structure will be built at the back of the property in the space now used by Prince for a used-car lot.

No Look-Alikes. These two-story, four-unit structures will be built of old and new brick and designed so that each of the four sections is different from the other. Small courtyards and recessed areas, shade trees and brick walks, landscaping and grass will be used to give a feeling of mellowness and repose to the area, Mr. LaPlaca said.

Mr. LaPlaca hopes to have within his "court" a restaurant, a women's specialty shop, preferably one with an inventory of casual sportswear; a women's shoe shop and a drug store.

At the rear of the property and on the side, the new owner will provide off-street space for 103 cars. The land lies along Nassau Street with a segment fronting on Harrison Street between the Princeton Gourmet and the Harrison Street Firehouse.

Mr. LaPlaca hopes to start construction late in the summer. He purchased the property from Mrs. Catherine Gerber, whose husband, Stuart Gerber, was the Chevrolet

Alex F. DeGiovanni, son of Frank DeGiovanni, 877 State Road, has been promoted to major, while assigned to the U.S. Army Supply Services Command in Okinawa. Major DeGiovanni is operations officer of the command's 127th Ordnance Company. He entered the army in May, 1951.

Miss Nancy Dicke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Dicke, 321 Prospect Avenue, and Miss Linda Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Law, 98 Random Road, will be among some 300 University of Rochester students who will participate in the Bach Weekend concerts at the University. The concerts will be held February 27-March 1.

GOLDEN WEDDING: Mr. and Mrs. Karl D. Pettit of Cherry Hill Farm, Ridgeview Road, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a family dinner on Valentine's Day. Residents of Princeton since 1912, the Pettits have four sons, three daughters, 25 grandchildren and a new-born great-grandchild. Mr. Pettit, a former football player at Cornell, is an investment banker in New York City. Mrs. Pettit, long active in the Present Day Club, Springdale Golf Club and other organizations, admires her 35-mile view over Hopewell Valley and says she's "not running things." The grandchildren have taken her over. (Staff Photo)

MAN WITH PROBLEMS: Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff still needs balance for Tiger quintet as second half of Ivy race begins.

NO GO FOR TIGERS

Yale Now Pick in Ivy Race. Despite the fact that it is in a four-way tie for first place at the half-way point, Princeton's basketball team will need a near-miracle to help it win a second straight Ivy championship.

Off the complete inability of any player on the squad to score in double figures away from home, the Tigers may wind up as low as fourth. The odds on favorite is Yale's veteran quintet, which began the season by losing its first two league games and may well finish it by winning its last 12.

The Tigers will be host this weekend to last-place Dartmouth on Friday, and on Saturday to the Harvard five that all but toyed with them last week at Cambridge. This is not to say that the Crimson will necessarily finish even as high as first division but rather to underscore the reality that Princeton cannot handle the pressure of playing away from home.

For the second time this season, no player other than Bill Bradley made more than nine points in either game of the road trip. Sophomores Don Rollenbach and Bill Haarlow, who had respective totals of 22 and 14 in the relatively easy triumph over Penn here, could not make it into double figures either night. Captain Bill Howard had a total output of one field goal.

Harvard Was Hot. Against this sort of frigid shooting, fourth-place Harvard treated a howling capacity crowd to a sizzling field goal shooting performance of 62%. The blast all but melted the invading Tigers into toy kittens.

The Crimson took advantage of extremely loose Princeton defensive play to produce two players who hit for a combined total of 61 points. Sophomore Keith Sedlacek went into the game with an ordinary 8.2 average but outscored Bradley on Friday, 31 to 30.

The Harvard player connected on 13 of 16 shots from the floor, while junior Merle McClung was almost as hot with 13 of 18. He matched Bradley's total of 30.

The victors were off to an early 16-5 lead, enjoyed a 44-31 margin at half-time and were never in trouble after play resumed. The crowd loved Bradley's play as the big Princetonian made 11 field goals and eight fouls while gathering in a dozen rebounds but it was delirious over its first victory in basketball over the Tigers in six years.

Trouble at Hanover, Too. A Dartmouth team that had won only two of its first 17 games stayed within hailing distance all evening at Hanover. Had the Indians been possessed of a shade more skill, they might have upset Princeton, too, because the Tigers played without Bradley for the final 14 minutes.

Offensive fouls proved his undoing, and after drawing three personals in the first half, he left the game with six minutes gone in the second period and his team leading, 56-44. Bradley had made 11 of the Tigers' first 14 points following the intermission.

The bereft Princetonians promptly went scoreless for almost four minutes, but Dartmouth was unable to take major advantage of the situation and seven points was the closest it could come.

In an effort to find a steady combination, Bill Van Breda Kolff has been using players who haven't seen much action in weeks. Don Niemann, 6-6 junior, was a surprise starter against Dartmouth, replacing Howard, while sophomores Bob Baughan and Wally Uble were in the lineup early as reserves.

In addition to the freeze that envelops Princeton shooting, defensive troubles are also plaguing the Tigers. No team can hit for 62% as Harvard did if a man-to-man defense is applying the proper brand of glue to its opponents.

Yale the Clear Choice. Off its convincing 79-67 victory over Cornell at Ithaca Friday, Yale appears to have the league title well in sight. Contrary to the other three teams with which it is tied, the Blue has played all of its toughest games away from home. Only its trip to Cambridge appears to be a problem among the road games remaining on its schedule.

Princeton must go to New Haven and Philadelphia, and its return meeting with Cornell in Dillon Gym is by no means a sure victory despite the triumph at Ithaca last month when Bradley pulled the Tigers through with his fantastic 49-point performance. Cornell has the roughest road schedule of all, with games still to play at New Haven and Philadelphia in addition to its appearance here.

Penn goes to New Haven for a televised affair on Washington's Birthday, with the outcome of the game likely to de-

SKATERS FACE HARVARD

Saturday In Ivy Battle. A Harvard hockey team that must win all its remaining Ivy games if it is to stand a chance of earning at least a tie for the 1964 title will face Princeton Saturday in Baker Rink. A 2:30 face-off is scheduled.

Despite the presence of a standout goalie and three potentially high-scoring lines on its squad, the Crimson has met with unexpected difficulty this season. Harvard lost to Brown at Providence in overtime before Christmas and last week had a victory string on its own ice that dated back to 1961 broken when Cornell won, 21- at Cambridge.

On Saturday, the defending champions suffered their worst beating in several years when they were trounced, 7 to 1, by Dartmouth in a Winter Carnival setting. The Indians, who finished last in the league a year ago but are in first place now, had a 6-0 lead before Harvard produced its lone goal.

Despite its season-long problems, Princeton has hopes of defeating Harvard this weekend for the first time in 11 years. The Tigers have been scoring well in Ivy action (five goals against both Dartmouth and Brown in games played away from home) but defensive difficulties have been their undoing.

Loss In Overtime. That was the story at Providence Saturday, when Princeton lost, 6-5, in an extra session after holding a 3-1 lead at the end of the first period and a 5-4 margin with less than four minutes left.

Brown was never in front until it won the game at 31 seconds of the sudden-death overtime. Early goals by Mike Spence, George Peterson and Gordie Park gave the Tigers a 3-1 lead, and the best Brown could do during regulation time was erase numerous deficits.

Peterson, Park and Em Hall now form the second line, giving Princeton a solid one-two punch with Steve Cook, Mike Spence and Mike Peterman the starting trio. Goalie Harry Mays took over for Dick Reece on the Rhode Island trip and performed creditably.

Twenty-four hours earlier, the Tigers lost to Providence at Woonsocket, 5 to 2. They trailed, 4-0, before Captain Gerry Shoning got a second period goal, with Em Hall beating the third-period buzzer by five seconds.

SEASON GETS LONGER

As PHS Loses Again. Friday evening's 65-50 loss at the hands of Steinert High School coupled with last week's overtime defeat by Ewing — both opponents which Princeton High School had defeated earlier in the year are strong indications that while the opposition is improving, the Little Tigers are not. It is clearly evident now that PHS is not going anywhere this year.

In fact, if the Blue and White is to salvage even a .500 season — a far cry from the 14-4 record last year — it must win four of its last five games. Even this modest goal is likely to elude its grasp. In the way are return games against Hamilton and Pennington, both of whom have already defeated PHS this winter, and a prep school outing with Peddie. A PHS-Lawrenceville contest was played Wednesday.

Friday afternoon at 3:30, PHS will entertain Peddie which comes to town with a 6-6 record. Included in that is a one-point victory over Lawrenceville. There will be no junior varsity game.

After Peddie, the Little Tigers will break for a week, resuming the following Friday against Hamilton at home in what will be their final week of activity. They will play their last home game Munday the 24th at 3:30, opposite Hunterdon Central. Originally, the game was scheduled for Tuesday but it was moved ahead a day at Hunterdon's request.

LITTLE TIGER STARTING FIVE: When the current season was four games old, Princeton High coach Tony Borzok made a number of changes in his starting lineup. Since then, he has stuck with these players: from left, Dave Hill, co-captain; Jim Tucker, Tom Waters, co-captain; Kerry Klink and Wilbur Hines. Tucker and Klink are juniors. The leading scorer on the team, Hines, is only a sophomore. (Staff Photo)

Steinert Surprises. Steinert's 15-point margin over Princeton was unexpected. What's more, the Spartans' perpetrated their upset on the losers' own court. The defeat was Princeton's eighth against five wins.

"They had too much hustle for us," said Coach Tony Borzok. "They were up for the game and we weren't. They wanted the ballgame very badly and that was it."

The visitors untracked PHS, which had taken a short-lived 5-1 lead, with some accurate shooting from the floor. "Exceptional" was the label Borzok used to describe Steinert's first-half marksmanship. Said Tony, "It must have been close to 60%."

Then, after an even third quarter, Steinert applied the coup de grace, inch by inch in Chinese torture fashion, by calmly sinking one free throw after another. To draw even, PHS resorted to a press and had committed numerous fouls. Unfortunately, the strategy failed when Steinert made good on the foul line.

For its own part, PHS had one plus and several minuses. The plus was Pete Heiberger who scored 17 points for the losers, many of them coming on fine, second-efforts under the basket. No one else hit double figures.

On the debit side was a woeful 18 for 64 shooting average from the floor. Two victims of this coldness were Wilbur Hines, who dipped below double figures for the first time this season with eight, and Kerry Klink who was blanked for the first time. In addition to Klink, five other Little Tigers failed to score a single point.

The game witnessed the return to action of 6-3 Jim Tucker who had missed the previous two games. Obviously off his timing, Jim hit for six points, far below par for him.

Jayvees Take 12th. Offsetting the defeat was the continued success of the PHS junior varsity squad. The jayvees had little difficulty in winning their 12th game in 13 starts by posting an easy 57-39 triumph over the Steinert jayvees.

But Borzok warned against counting next year's victories. "Most of the players are juniors," he said, "and there is no height. If we had a couple of tall players it might mean something; you've got to have some height in varsity ball. There's a great deal of difference between playing jayvee and varsity ball," he concluded.

LITTLE TIGERS TRIUMPH

In Winter Track Meet. Capturing seven of the 11 events, Princeton High School scored 48 points to win the first annual Lawrence Junior Chamber of Commerce Track Meet held Friday at Lawrenceville School's Lavino Field House. Trenton and Ewing High Schools finished in a tie for second place with 30 points each.

Princeton's fine sprinter, Bill Aiken, who won both the low and high hurdle events, was named the outstanding runner in the meet. His time in the 60-yard low hurdles was 7.1 seconds; he ran the same distance in the highs at 7.5.

Among the first place winners for the Blue and White were Jim McKeever in the shot put; Larry Mueller, 60-yard dash; and Jay Gallagher, mile. Gallagher's time of 4.42 edged second-place Tom Wilson of Hamilton by one second.

In addition, the Little Tigers won two of three relay races, capturing the four-lap relay and the medley relay. Times in the two events were 1.15.7 and 4.20.8.

PCD SIX WINS

Tops Lawrenceville. A late rally against the Lawrenceville Lower School gave Princeton Country Day School's hockey team a 3-2 victory in its first game of the season.

Bill Kehoe scored both the goals which brought the Blue and White from behind. Hugh Sampson tallied first for PCD but Lawrenceville took a 2-1 margin into the closing minutes of the game. Kehoe then changed the picture, getting his first goal unassisted and his second on assists from Wally Shew and Jeff Delano. Goalie Aubrey Huston has been named captain for the 1964 season.

The PCD basketball team dropped its fourth straight last week, losing 63-48 to Valley Road after trailing throughout. Captain Bruce Johnson paced the losers with 18 points.

PLAN OBEDIENCE SHOW

By Dog Club on Sunday. The Mid-Jersey Companion Dog Training Club will hold an Obedience Match Show Sunday at 1 o'clock. It will take place in the Somerville Armory, Grove Street, Somerville, with entries accepted starting at noon.

Ribbons and trophies will be awarded in sub-novice, novice, open and utility classes. Show officials point out that entrants will be afforded an opportunity to practice for the obedience show planned later in the month by the Princeton Dog Training Club.

HUN WINS, LOSES

Enters Final Week. The Hun School basketball team enters its final week of play still very much in the thick of things in the Penn-Jersey League. According to Coach Bob Simpson, his team with its present 6-3 record "still could make it."

Despite those three losses, the Red and Black enjoys a clear edge in the victory column, as no other team in the League has won more than four. The current leader — Moorestown Friends — is 4-1, while second-place George School is a half-game back at 4-2.

Hun will play its final home game of the season Saturday at 2 in the Princeton Seminary

The population of New Jersey has increased 25.5% in the past ten years and now exceeds 6,250,000. The state's population is increasing annually by approximately 100,000 persons! Even now, we rank first in population density with 830.3 people per square mile. Rhode Island is second with a population density of 817.6. The most populated cities in New Jersey are shown in the photo above with Newark exceeding all others by far. However, there is still plenty of open space in our state as over 68% of the land area is in forest or farm.

New Jersey is in the middle of the world's richest market. Its citizens enjoy the benefits of thriving commerce and industry together with the availability of outstanding recreational, cultural and educational services.

gymnasium against Germantown Friends. Earlier in the campaign, Hun disposed of the Quakers without too much difficulty and Simpson reported that Germantown is "still taking its lumps in the league." Barring a major upset, Hun should have this one in its side pocket.

No such certainty surrounds Hun's finale — a showdown battle against league-leading Moorestown. The key contest will be played Wednesday at Moorestown. The winner in this one may well take home all the marbles.

A 53-48 victory over Solebury Saturday in New Hope, Pa. enabled the Johnny Huns to stay in contention. At the half, the game was deadlocked 27-27, but the home team was unable to match the superior shooting of Hun's Scott Page, Ted Isaacson and Tryg Slettleland. This trio combined for 49 or Hun's 53 points, with Page accounting for a game-high 20.

Victory was all the sweeter because Hun managed it without the services of its second-highest scorer, Mike Miller, who was out with the measles, and starter Mike Leon, who broke his wrist four games ago and is lost for the season. The victory was Hun's sixth in 11 games.

Tripped Up, 62-52. Earlier in the week, Hun was unable to shake its jinx of losing every even-numbered game when it dropped a 62-52 decision to George School in Newtown, Pa. It was Hun's second defeat this year to George School, the only opponent that has stopped Hun twice this year.

George School jumped to a quick 11-1 lead and Hun never was able to get those 10 points back. Once again, captain Scott Page of Trenton led all Hun scorers with 21 points. Slettleland followed with 15.

HUN COACH AND CAPTAIN: Two reasons why the Hun School basketball team is near the top in the Penn-Jersey League this season are the fine coaching of Bob Simpson and the playing of captain Scott Page of Trenton. Page has been averaging 17.5 points a game to lead all Hun players in scoring. (Staff Photo)

Silvester, 185; Marie Wiley, 176; Irma Mihan, 175, and Julia Ball, 172.

Gropps Tavern and the Hampshire House are tied at 18 wins each in the women's league at Princeton Bowling on Route One. Kingsway Motor Co. and the First National Bank of Cranbury are tied for second with 16.

There is also a tie in the standing for third place. Hit and Misses and Applegate Floral have won 14 games each.

GOLF LESSONS PLANNED

At Cranbury. A ten-week instructional program in golf will begin Sunday under auspices of the Cranbury Golf Club. Complete details may be obtained by calling 799-0341.

One-hour lessons will be offered each Sunday, with a charge of $10 for the course. Boys and girls under 12 may take 30 minutes of instruction for $5. The series was originally planned to start February 9 but was postponed until next Sunday.

ARMY WINS IN HOCKEY

Defeats Princeton, 4 to 1. If Cornell were on the Army hockey schedule this year, the rugged cadets might well be champions of the Ivy League. In Baker Rink Tuesday night, the West Point rifles added a Tiger pelt to their list of victims which already included Brown, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale.

It was a 4-1 final, and pretty much of an Army picture all the way. The visitors used a constant territorial advantage in the opening period to take a 2-0 lead and were never sorely pressed by Princeton, which dropped its 11th game in 16 starts.

A pretty backhanded shot by Mike Spence at 12.35 of the second round narrowed the cadets' lead and gave the sparse but noisy crowd hopes of an upset. Mike Peterman and Cam McEwen assisted on the goal, which came with two Army players and one Princetonian doing penance.

The tough-minded cadets got this one back quickly, however, taking advantage of clearing difficulties plaguing defenseman Sam Abernathy to beat goalie Dick Reece four minutes later. They netted their final goal on a breakaway early in the third period to assure their 15th triumph in 20 games.

It was a hard-checking, grudge-borne affair from start to finish, the officials handing out 13 penalties. The last two involving Princeton's Buss Hall and Army's Dick Peterson, were for fighting, both players leaving the ice 25 seconds early by request.

A game with Penn, which may some day be in the Ivy League, will follow the Harvard contest, the Quakers coming to Baker Rink next Wednesday. The annual go-round with Yale follows, the Tigers hoping to prove that the Elis are the rightful cellar-dwellers for 1964.

Bonthron To Be Honored

Bill Bonthron of Princeton and the two men who raced to track fame with him three decades ago will be honored this Thursday night at Madison Square Garden. On hand for the occasion will also be Glenn Cunningham of Kansas and Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania.

The three athletes competed in a series of indoor and outdoor races 30 years ago, each at one time setting a world's record for either a mile or 1,500 meters. All of them took part in the famous Invitation Track Meets staged annually in Palmer Stadium in June.

Ceremonies at the Garden will be under the direction of the New York Athletic Club, which staged the first meet made famous by the race these three ran. In memory of the occasion, they'll jog a lap Thursday night, and Bonthron's Princeton friends were reportedly betting heavily that he could still outrun the competition as he did that winter night in 1934.

'CONTROL' AND 'PATROL'

For Deer Hunting Safety. In last week's issue, TOWN TOPICS reported that Township Committee had discussed at its most recent meeting the potential danger to residents from deer hunting. In an open letter to Township Committee, S. L. DiDonato, board chairman of the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, has the following suggestions to make:

"What we need is a solution which would permit hunting in certain areas, but which would insure: (1) Controlling the number of hunters on any particular parcel of land; (2) A patrol of these areas to prevent an influx of out-of-town hunters; (3) The teaching and enforcing of state hunting regulations and the practice of 'safety first' in the field."

Mr. DiDonato continues: "Only a well-organized hunting club can insure these proposals. Only the local hunting clubs, in cooperation with the major property owners, can solve the basic problem."

"A few of the major property owners have been enjoying the benefits of working agreements with a local hunting club," he states. "The success of this arrangement is evident in the fact that the agreements are renewed each year."

He points out that, in a recent article in The New York Times, one of the main reasons for the massive growth in the deer population has been "the protection afforded by the ban on hunting deer." The article also cited the fact that "deer leave the woodlands to forage in the populous neighborhoods and have become a menace to automobile traffic, to agricultural crops and to ornamental shrubbery."

Mr. DiDonato adds: "We feel that a ban on hunting in Princeton Township would only lead to a more disastrous problem (than now exists) for Princeton Township would become a haven for all the deer herds from miles around this area."

"In closing," he states, "I wish to invite all major property owners in Princeton Township to write to our club if you are interested in our plan and wish to discuss it further . . . Let us take a realistic approach, and then and only then will the problem be solved."

ST. PAUL'S IS SPOILER

Upsets St. Anthony's, 24-17. St. Paul's of Princeton acted the role of "spoiler" again last week when it upset St. Anthony's in Trenton in the Mercer County C.Y.O. Grammar School Basketball League. The loss toppled St. Anthony's from second to fifth place in the Northern Division.

St. Paul's, in turn, earned a tie with St. Stanislaus for third place in the Southern Division. Both schools have an 8-4 record.

Against St. Anthony's, the turning point came in the third period when St. Paul's outscored the losers, 9-1. Italio Procaccino paced the victors with eight points. Close behind were Fred Leuper with six and Mike Maguire with five.

CERTIFIED TREE EXPERT

PICTURE A WIDE green lawn sloping down to the lake, highlighted by lovely trees and bordered on both sides by a lush assortment of flowering shrubs (weigela, quince, crabapple, weeping cherry, mimosa, laurel, forsythia, etc.) Shortly, if the house is not sold, you can see this picture through the wide living room window as you enter its front hall. Outstanding among many fine points of the brick home is a marvelous blending of the great outdoors with the liveable inside. Dining room doors open on a large, brick-walled raised terrace, while the playroom opens right on the lawn. And what a playroom! Huge, light, tile-floored, with a fireplace and all-tiling bath, it should keep wandering children of all ages at home but happily sequestered! 5 bedrooms (master with dressing or sitting room), study, fine kitchen, excellent closets, tiled baths, superb accessible storage space, air-conditioning, superior construction, pristine condition, 2 car garage and a dock complete the picture. $75,000. PENNINGTON

When the snow falls and chill winds are blowing, what could be nicer than lounging in front of a crackling fire in the living room fireplace, and when the kids start getting on your nerves, wouldn't it be nice to retreat to the full dry basement and enjoy the fire in the brick fireplace there? And with that cold wind blowing outside, it is so comforting to know that your heating bill for this 4 bedroom, 2 bath Cape Cod is only $120 a year. A qualified buyer needs only $900 down. Near schools, too. You really should see this one.

Getting the kids to school is a snap from this nice 4 bedroom Cape Cod, for this home is just down the street from both the elementary and junior high schools. Plenty of room for the kids, too — 4 bedrooms, a large backyard. Excellent location and only $18,500

WE NOMINATE

Sheldon Judson, 45-year old geologist and one of the Princeton Community's most versatile and articulate men of science, who has accepted added responsibilities as Director of the Princeton Summer Studies Program, the newly announced school-University program beamed at the national objective of increasing the pool of qualified college applicants from economically and culturally impoverished homes. At a time when this country must be concerned with raising the levels of aspiration and academic preparedness among underadvantaged minorities, Judson will be heading up a venture that this summer will bring 40 New Jersey high school sophomores to the University Campus for six weeks of "exposure."

In the initial phase of a major undertaking, a basic purpose of which is to serve as an experiment in shaping the search for ways of stimulating ability and leadership in underprivileged 'teen-agers, Judson and his associates will be working with recommended students drawn from seven New Jersey high schools, including Princeton. It is anticipated that the majority will be Negroes (although the program is not so defined) and all will be from low-income brackets. By restricting participation to New Jersey, Judson states, "We are providing conditions for consistent follow-up work during the students' post-Princeton high school years in their own environments."

Judson, a member of the University Faculty since 1955, would be the first to point out that the program, which will be underwritten in part by a 3-year grant of $150,000 from The Rockefeller Foundation, has been hammered into its present form by an area-wide effort and is not in any sense a "recruiting scheme" for the University. Step-by-step, the summer curriculum, with its stress on fundamental skills, and the conception of year-'round counseling in the individual students' homes have been evolved cooperatively by representatives of the University, of the Borough of Princeton and Trenton Schools, Princeton Day Schools and the Lawrenceville School.

Widely known for his studies of the geologic antiquity of man, and with a string of publications in the areas of glacial geology and geomorphology, the youthful-appearing Judson, the father of three daughters, has been closely identified with the Princeton-based Junior High School Science Project, "Time, Space, and Matter," now in its second year of trial classroom use and an integral part of the Summer Program's "curriculum." This course, sponsored by the University with the financial assistance of the National Science Foundation, employs the principles of physics, chemistry and mathematics in answering questions about the physical world.

Judson, a trustee of the Princeton Junior Museum and a member of the Council of the Friends of the Public Library, was graduated from Princeton with the Class of 1940 after carving off one of its highest honors, the Class of 1901 Medal, annually conferred upon the senior "doing most for the University." World War II service with the Navy, embracing long months of duty on the barren Aleutian Island of Adak, was followed by graduate study at Harvard and, prior to his Princeton appointment, six years of teaching and research at the University of Wisconsin.

For his key role in the development of a project conceived in the national interest; for helping add still another dimension to Princeton's enduring concern with the "essential business" of education; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as
